

Season 3 Episode 21

Side Window

Mason is in his lab and he is working on a machine where a bunch of thin and fragile looking wires are connected to each other and it creates a purple and black portal. Mason said, "The mind is a wonderous place filled with brainwaves and impulses of all kinds. It is like I just entered a new dimension. Now we will be able to go into peoples' minds and find out their true dark secrets." Jason enters the lab. Jason said, "Whatcha got there this time?" Mason said, "Jason. I told you not to barge in on me when I am in the middle of working on something." Jason walks up to the machine and he said, "What is this? Is this something that can get me more orange soda?" Mason said, "It has nothing to do with orange soda. This is a delicate machine and I insist you leave at once." Jason said, "I am sure it is not going to blow up on you. Since when did your machines ever blow up in your face?" There is a montage of times Mason works on all kinds of inventions and they explode. Mason gets set on fire and Jason is left intact. Mason builds a complex computer and it starts giving wrong calculations and smoke starts coming off it. Goes back to present and Jason said, "Oh, that." The machine begins to get overactive and it breaks and zig zag and fluid purple waves come off the machine and they blast Jason. Mason yells, "Jason!" Mason goes to his machine and he turns it off and it doesn't turn off and it is shooting waves at things all over the lab and is destroying the lab. Mason unplugs the machine and it does nothing. Mason flicks the off switch on it and it still does nothing. Mason grabs a wrench and he throws it at the machine and the machine explodes and Mason hides behind a metal dish and Mason is safe.

Mason gets up and he sees his lab is in ruins. Mason said, "Well, I guess I have to call my repair team again." Mason presses a button on his watch and Orbot appears in the lab. Orbot said, "What can I do for you, Master Mason?" Mason said, "You know the drill. One of my new machines blew up again and I need you the clean up the aftermath." Orbot salutes Mason and he said, "I am on it." Orbot starts cleaning up the lab and Jason is lying on the floor twitching. Jason said, "They are coming for me. They are after me. I need to save them. I need..." Mason stands over Jason and Mason said, "I think you just saw a strange frame of mind that you were not supposed to see. I will find a treatment for this."

Mason is in a radiation suit and he wheels Jason in a wheelchair and he brings Jason to a side room located at the side end of the house with a big window with the neighbors' houses being visible. There is a TV in the room with a VCR set up. Jason said, "Why are you locking me in the side room? We almost never use this room." Mason said, "That's exactly the point. It is best you stay away from everyone else. This will be your quarantine room. I have all your favorite things in here." Mason shows that he has Jason's games, comics, VHS tapes, and DVDs. Mason said, "I will put on a movie for you." Mason grabs a VHS tape. Mason said, "How about, Starchest Episode VII. This is the one that started it all back in 1975. I'll put this on. You just rest and watch the movie." Mason leaves the side room and Jason watches the movie.

Jason watches the action on the screen and then it goes into a long and dull scene. Jason said, "I always wonder how a movie with so many dull scenes could become such a big hit." Jason hears a woman screaming and Jason turns around and he looks into the neighbor's house. Jason sees a woman getting murdered by a clown. Jason yells, "A clown is murdering our neighbor! Mason! Where are you? Wait... Why am I calling for Mason? This is a job for the cops." Jason finds a phone and he dials 911. Cops show up and they close off the neighborhood and they surround the house. Mason walks down the street with a bag filled with groceries and he sees the neighborhood is filled with police cars. A cop walks out of the neighbor's house and he said, "It is a false alarm. There wasn't a murder here. It must have been a prank call." Mason enters the side room and he said, "I brought you some food. Also, someone prank called 911 and said our neighbors were getting murdered." Jason said, "They were getting murdered. I am the one that called 911. An evil clown came into their house and murdered them." Mason said, "You must be sicker than you think. I need to fix that machine of mine. That machine of mine may be the only thing that can cure your mind."

Mason is in his lab and he fixes up the machine. Mason said, "The purpose of this machine is to view the brainwaves and genetic coding of someone's mind. This could lead to being able to view someone's memories. If I can calibrate this machine properly, I could in theory see what is going on inside Jason's brain and find out the source of the problem."

Jason is sitting on the chair in the side room and a clown breaks down the door and is armed with an axe. He looks at Jason and he said, "You're next." Jason yells and he grabs the phone and calls 911. Mason enters the side room and police are standing around Jason. The cops look at Mason and one of them said, "Are you the man of this house?" Mason said, "I am." The cop said, "You better watch your kid. He called us twice today to report murders done by clowns. There are no clowns around here." Mason said, "I think I know how to fix this."

Mason brings his machine into the side room and he connects it to Jason's brain. Mason said, "Something obviously went wrong with Jason's brainwaves and now he sees things that aren't there. He is most likely suffering from partitions of his brain being opened that are not intended to be opened. I will go in his mind and find the source of the opened partitions and I will have them shut. I know just how to do that." Mason takes a small device. Mason said, "I will use the main machine to go into Jason's mind and I will use this device to seal up the damage. This device is a portable brainwave generator. This should do the reverse of the blast from earlier. I can't just blast Jason with this because if I do, it may unopen partitions that are intended to be open and make the problem worse. I must fight this problem at the source." Mason activates the main machine and Mason is converted into a brainwave signature and he is sent into Jason's mind.

Mason ends up on a warped and whimsical looking street with a green sky and all the buildings are painted orange. Mason said, "I need to find the source of the clown. I must be in Jason's mind." Mason walks around the place and he comes across the clown. The clown stops in front of Mason and the clown said, "You want to hear a funny joke?" Mason said, "I am not in the mood." Mason activates his portable device and the clown said, "I love gadgets." The clown pulls down Mason's pants and the clown takes the device and runs away. Mason tries to run after the clown but he trips on his pants which are down to his ankles revealing his orange and black boxers.

Pamela said, "Nice boxers, Mason." Mason gets up and he pulls up his pants and he sees Pamela. Mason said, "Pamela. That clown over there stole my device I need to save Jason's mind. Jason's mind is in grave danger and if I don't get my device back and defeat that clown, Jason could be braindead." Pamela said, "That sounds bad. I will never let that happen to my beloved, Jason." Mason said, "Did you see that clown?" Pamela said, "Of course I did. Everyone in Jasonville knows him. I will show you where he lives." Pamela grabs onto Mason's hand and she runs into the city. There is a big sign over the entrance to the city that reads, "Welcome to Jasonville." The streets are filled with people wearing flashy clothes and they joke around. There are arcades with tons of retro games on every corner. There are Jason restaurants on every street that serve all kinds of foods. Mason said, "What is this place?" Pamela said, "This is the main city of Jasonville. This is where everything good happens. I think we are just about here." Pamela stops at the doorstep of a tall lighthouse in the middle of the city that is painted with orange and blue stripes. Mason said, "What is in this place?" Pamela said, "You know. Just the stuff you would expect to see from Jason." Pamela opens the door and she pushes Mason in. Pamela said, "Have fun in there."

Mason appears on the edge of a rooftop and he is wearing a skin tight suit that is white with green veins on it. There is also a picture of a plant on Mason's chest. The clown rides on a flying machine over Mason and he has Mason's device in one hand. The clown said, "Ha, ha, ha! You are doomed! You are going to be bombtastic just like the rest of the city." Mason jumps high and he holds his arm out and a vine shoots out of it and it sticks to the side of a building. Mason swings the vine. Mason keeps shooting vines and he swings from them. Mason uses the vines to chase after the clown. The clown keeps throwing bombs at Mason and Mason dodges them. The bombs land in the street and they blow up things on the street. The clown throws another bomb at Mason and Mason uses his vines to grab onto the bomb and throws it back at the clown. The clown gets hit by the bomb blast and his flying machine goes spiraling down and lands in an ocean of orange soda on a beach.

Mason swings to the beach and he crashes into the sand. Mason gets up and he said, "This isn't sand. This is grinded up pop rocks." Mason sees Pamela in a swimsuit sitting on a beach chair. Mason goes to Pamela and he said, "Did you see where the clown went?" Pamela said, "The beach gives an awesome view of everything. I think he is coming out of the orange soda ocean right now." Mason turns around and he sees the clown gets out of the ocean and he runs off the beach and back to the city. Mason runs after the clown. The clown gets far ahead of Mason and Mason gets engulfed in a crowd of people. The people in the crowd all turn into clowns and they start beating on Mason. Mason jumps and uses his vine to zip away but the vine suddenly stops working. Mason falls back into the crowd and he appears in a Japanese garden. There is a large pond and there is a dojo. Mason walks into the dojo and Captain Fusion is there dressed as an ancient Japanese master. Captain Fusion said, "So you've come." Mason said, "I guess I have." Captain Fusion said, "You have come to learn the ways of Fusionjitsu and conquer your enemies." Mason said, "I guess." Captain Fusion said, "The only way you can properly train is if you are put into a real-life situation. The tax man has been coming after me for years and he just sent his goons to come in and take everything I have. You must defend me. I have my gifted student, El Dorrachi to take your side in this fight. Take this." Captain Fusion throws a katana to Mason and Mason grabs it. El Dorro as a samurai shows up and a bunch of evil tax people armed with samurai swords show up at the dojo. Mason and El Dorro use their katanas and they fight the tax men. Mason slashes one down and more gang up and one pushes Mason and one of them slashes the chest of Mason's suit. Mason gets outnumbered as more tax men crowd around him. Mason said, "I could use a hand here." El Dorro is fighting off several of the tax men like a boss. El Dorro slashes one down and he slashes down another one. El Dorro smacks one that is sneaking up on him from behind. The tax men overtake El Dorro and they murder him. Mason jumps over the tax people and he duels some of them and he runs back to where Captain Fusion is. Mason said, "Master Fusion, there are too many of them." Captain Fusion said, "Sometimes you need to accept your fate. Defeat is the way of Bushido and is quite useful in a case like this." Mason said, "Captain Fusion would never say anything like that.” Tax men jump in the place and they beat up Captain Fusion with their swords and his body disappears. Mason jumps out a window and he rolls outside of the dojo.

Mason appears in a futuristic racecourse venue where anti-gravity racing ships are all lined up. Mason sees the clown with his device jumps in the large purple ship and he zooms off in it. Mason jumps in a yellow and blue ship and he races after the clown. Mason makes the ship fly down a racetrack and there are obstacles everywhere. Mason pilots the ship very fast and around the obstacles. Mason goes over a powerup and it gives him a weapon that looks like stars. A robotic voice said, “Myot Bomb.” Mason makes the ship fly over all the speed powerups and he ends up flying really fast. He gets right behind the clown in the purple ship. The clown is stuck right in front of Mason. The clown looks behind at Mason and he sticks his tongue out. He shows Mason the device and he said, “You are not getting this.” Mason said, “We’ll see about that.” Mason fires his weapon and it hits the clown and the clown’s ship explodes. The ship crashes and Mason is still going too fast to stop. Mason looks behind and he sees nothing. Mason goes through more roller coaster like loops and he gets a speed booster power up. Mason ends up on the edge of a ramp and he fires off his speed booster and he ends up in space.

Mason said, “Now look what happened. I am in space and the clown with the very thing I need to save Jason with is on earth.” Mason’s ship is pulled towards a boxing ring in space. Mason’s ship crashes and explodes on the ring and he sees the clown there. The clown shows Mason he has the device and he ends up in a big robot that looks like a larger version of himself. Different tie-dye dark colors appear around the boxing ring and the clown fires missiles at Mason. Mason dodges the missiles. Mason takes out his katana sword. Mason jumps and he slashes the clown robot and the sword does nothing. The clown sends a volley of homing missiles at Mason and Mason runs around the ring. The missiles hit the spot next to Mason and Mason is sent flying and he grabs onto the head of the clown. Mason uses his strength to rip the head off the robot. The clown said, “You have only two minutes to save your twin or else he will be mine and he will be seeing me forever.” Sweat pours off Mason’s head. Mason uses his strength to pull the head off the robot. Mason lifts part of the head off and a black image with a red line art drawing of Captain Fusion appears. Mason lifts some more and a black image with orange line art of Jason appears. Mason rips the head off and he throws it away. The clown is shot up and there is a large multi-colored cloud with a slot for the device. It is counting down and there are thirty seconds left. The clown laughs and he said, “You are not going to get it in time.” Mason jumps and he grabs onto the clown and he smacks the clown in the head and he uses his katana and he cuts the clown’s head off. The clown’s head keeps laughing and the clown’s arms still have a tight grip on the device. Mason grabs onto the device and he manages to pull it away from the clown and there are only five seconds left on the counter. Mason jumps to the slot and he puts the device in it.

The counter stops and nothing happens. The clown head keeps laughing and he said, "You see. There is no timer at all. I just like to joke with you." Mason said, "Then how do I save Jason?" The clown said, "Why would I tell you that? You are made to suffer and be doomed." Mason grabs onto the clown's head and he said, "You will talk." The clown says nothing." Mason's watch rings. Mason goes to his watch and he said, "Hello." Captain Fusion's voice comes from the watch and he said, "Mason. It is me Captain Fusion. I received signals that you are in Jason's mind. I understand you are stuck there with no way out. I am going to get you out of there. You could cause serious harm to Jason and yourself. Just stay put and do nothing." Mason stays where he is and the clown keeps laughing.

Captain Fusion kicks down the door to the side room and he jumps in the side room. Captain Fusion takes out a red and black round panel on a control pad and he places it in Mason's machine. Captain Fusion rearranges vectors on a screen. He moves them around and he fixes the broken vectors. Captain Fusion sets everything back up and Mason rematerializes out of Jason's mind.

Jason and Mason look at Captain Fusion and Captain Fusion said, "Everything should be back in place now. Mind Demons are coming." Mason said, "What are Mind Demons?" Captain Fusion said, "Mind Demons are manifestations of your dark, cynical intentions and they can manifest into characters in your mind. Klassika tried manipulating brainwaves into making everyone buy his music. These brainwaves can be used to form Mind Demons which are way worse. That clown you dealt with is a Mind Demon. There could be more of them. This brainwave machine of yours is our front line of defense against them if they ever return. We must prepare for a war with them at all costs." Jason and Mason give each other odd looks. Captain Fusion said, "I managed to develop technology to get rid of them but it only works on simpler ones like the one that was in Jason's mind. There could be far more powerful ones that cannot be destroyed with my technology. Jason and Mason still look weirded out.